

Starseed Seeks Director's Assistant/Apprentice

Starseed seeks a capable and open hearted person, who is easy to work with, interested in spiritual growth, aligned with the Starseed mission of catalyzing personal and planetary transformation and wants to further the mission.

This is a live-in position in the beautiful mountains of the northern Berkshires, located at an interfaith healing sanctuary, holistic retreat center and intentional community. In exchange for work, this assistant will receive on-going guidance in life-coaching, spiritual direction, assistance with a personal healing program, and/or the opportunity to apprentice in these areas as well as holistic and earth-based healing.

Work Competencies

The assistant must be able bodied, flexible, resourceful, creative and eager to do a wide variety of tasks. Core competencies include: organizing, setting up efficient and easy to use systems, computer, outreach, research, and innovative fundraising ideas. The assistant will provide general support for retreats, ceremonies and holistic programs, which includes cleaning and vegetarian cooking when necessary.

It is essential that this person can work independently and is willing to take on and complete projects, while also flowing easily with group alignment, collaboration, and manifestation.

As Starseed is an interfaith healing sanctuary, an assistant would have the unique and invaluable opportunity to live in a supportive environment for deepening their spirituality with others. As an intentional community, there is a focus on supporting each other in personal transformation, learning, and growth.

This position requires a minimum of a 9-month to 1-year commitment and will have an initial 1-month trial period to assure that it is a good fit. While some meals will be shared with the community, independent income or savings are necessary to cover personal food and expenses.

If you are interested in this position, please contact Starseed's Director Satyena Ananda at starseed@bcn.net.
